Missional consultant to work with Conference

Jessica Schrock-Ringenberg, minister at Zion Mennonite Church in Archbold, has agreed to serve the Ohio Conference as a part-time missional consultant for a one-year period, beginning in October 2017. She will be volunteering her time in this capacity three to four days per month.

At the 2017 Annual Conference Assembly in March, delegates affirmed a direction statement which included this goal: “We will put our best energy into being and becoming missional congregations together.” As missional consultant, Jessica will be working with the Missional Planning Team and Conference leadership to facilitate this process.

Jessica’s service with the Ohio Conference will coincide with her sabbatical from Zion Mennonite and a training opportunity for her with Exponential, an organization which focuses on church planting and church multiplication. (See <https://exponential.org> for more information about Exponential.)

Jessica recently was accepted into the Exponential Multiplier Cohorts: Emerging Leaders 2017-2018 Learning Community. Participation is by invitation only through a sponsoring leader connected with Exponential. Jessica was honored to be nominated by Alan Hirsch, one of the speakers at Ohio Conference’s missional conference in March 2017. This training with Exponential will help guide her work with Ohio Conference.

LMPC to offer Clergy Clinic in Emotional Process

Pastors: Are you encountering unhealthy patterns within the church related to unresolved conflicts from the past? Are you interested in enhancing your ability to manage self in a non-anxious manner in the midst of congregational anxieties? Consider attending the Clergy Clinic in Family Emotional Process sponsored by the Lombard Mennonite Peace Center. If you register by Sept. 18, you will qualify for the early registration discount and save $100 in tuition.

The Clergy Clinic in Family Emotional Process provides a safe forum for processing challenging situations in ministry, while also facilitating reflection on how one's own functioning can either fuel anxiety or have a calming influence on the church system. The Clergy Clinic meets three times, for three days each time, over the course of a year, and includes input on systems theory, family of origin groups, and congregational case study groups.

The Clergy Clinic in Family Emotional Process will be held in Lombard, Illinois, which is located in the Chicago area. For more information, please see the enclosed Clergy Clinic brochure.
